

Complaint Form

This form is for making a complaint about a legal practitioner, law practice employee or unlawful operator in Queensland.

All complaints to the Legal Service Commission (the Commission) about the conduct of legal practitioners, law practice employees and unlawful operators in Queensland must be in writing.

The Commission may send information in this form to the legal practitioner, law practice or unlawful operator in accordance with the Legal Profession Act 2007 to enable the person named in this complaint to respond.

Before making a complaint

Before making a complaint to the Commission we recommend you speak directly to the legal practitioner or law practice employee to resolve the matter, or to a more senior person at the same office, to see if your issue is able to be resolved.

Completing this form

- The information you provide in this form will help us understand your complaint.
- A separate form is to be used to make a complaint against more than one legal practitioner, law practice employee or unlawful operator.
- Please complete the declaration on the final page of this form. The Commission may not be able to progress the complaint unless the Declaration is signed.
- For assistance with translating this form, please contact www.tisnational.gov.au to arrange an interpreter.

What the Commission cannot do

- The Commission cannot provide legal advice or legal assistance. This includes giving legal advice in relation to your dispute.
- The Commission cannot influence a matter currently before any court or tribunal.
- The Commission cannot decide whether a legal practitioner has overcharged for their services, or make a law practice refund or waive any fees.
- For more information on complaints about costs please visit our website www.lsc.qld.gov.au.

Use of information provided by you

- It is an offence to use or disclose information provided in this form for any purpose except those outlined in the Legal Profession Act 2007.
- The Legal Services Commission collects, receives, uses, stores and discloses your personal information in accordance with its obligations under the Legal Profession Act 2007 and the Information Privacy Act 2009.
- For the purposes of dealing with a complaint, including any investigation, the Commission may disclose your personal information to the person named in the complaint, their legal representative and the regulatory authority, either the Queensland Law Society or the Bar Association of Queensland.
- If a complaint proceeds to a disciplinary hearing, your personal information will usually be disclosed to the disciplinary body. A disciplinary body includes the courts, the Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal, and the Legal Practice Committee.
- For more information on privacy please visit our website www.lsc.qld.gov.au.
